Colorado Springs

1. Rock Ledge Ranch is located at 3105 Gateway Road. This quilt block, Apple Tree, represents an apple tree on the property that was planted by the Chambers family in the late 1800's when they resided in the home standing on the property.
2. Ruth's Stitchery is located at 4440 Austin Bluffs Pkwy. Ruth Warren Johnson (the owner) grew up in Nebraska, the daughter of a farmer, and recently married a Nebraska farmer from the same community. Hence, the pattern Farmer's Daughter is a personal choice of the owner.
3. Ladybug Hill Quilts is located at 929 E. Fillmore, opened in June 2002. The true Lovers Knot (or True Love Knot) is a name which has been used for many distinct knots. The association of knots with the symbolism of love, friendship and affection dates back to antiquity. Dedicated to our quilting community both local and international, Ladybug Hill Quilts is the premier Colorado quilt shop for block of the month programs, Fun & friends!
4. High Country Quilts, 4771 N. Academy Blvd. opened in 1983. The Pine Tree & Mountains have always been our logo as well as close to our hearts. The pattern Norway Pine is most fitting.
5. City of Colorado Springs, City Administration Building, 30 S. Nevada Ave. The City inhabited this building in 1982. Various city agencies are housed in this building, including the mayor's office. The Pinwheel block was chosen because it represents a simple block which is not only inspired by a real object, but is also whimsical and playful.
6. Na-La's Quilt Shoppe, 117 S. Main St. in Fountain is housed in the 1898 mercantile building. Two sisters merged their love of fabric and thread, creating a perfect balance. This block, Na-La's Star was designed by one of the owners, Nani Kaai.

Old Colorado City

7. The Green Valley Weavers & Knitters, 2115 W. Colorado Ave. is a great place to get your knit or weave on. Come knit, spin, weave or crochet with friendly people. Yarns & lessons are available. The owner just loves the flowers in the Water Lily.
8. Needleworks by Holly Berry and Holly Berry House, 2409 West Colorado Ave, share space in a 130 year old building that once was a Tackle Shop with hay and feed sold outback, upstairs a Boarding House with multitude of small rooms and outside entrance. For 34 years it was the Old Town Bike Shop. Holly Berry has been at this location 17 years with Needleworks by Holly Berry joining them two years later. They have worked with many artists over the past twenty years. Since both shops have Christmas articles year round, the Christmas Star was most appropriate.

9. The Holly Leaf, 2514 West Colorado Ave., is 90% Christmas 100% of the time! Family owned and operated in Old Colorado City for 26 years. The block Wind Blown Tulips was singled out because the owner just liked the looks of tulips in a ring.
10. Mya Bella Cupcakes, 2524 1/2 W. Colorado Ave., a mother/daughter owned business named after her daughter Mya Bella. The business specializes in gourmet cupcakes for events of all kinds and has been in business for 6 years. The block, Wreath of Carnations, was selected because they loved the flowers and the block was in the stores colors.
11. 45 Degree At 2528-B West Colorado Ave., you will find this quaint shop. In February 2010, with over 11 years of experience, Reed Fair decided to exchange the skyscrapers of Chicago for the mountains near Colorado Springs. Whether you're custom framing your favorite band poster, cherished sports jersey, family portrait or fine are original, your items will be handled with extreme care and professionalism. The Double Pinwheel block caught my eye because it was shown in orange, a favorite color.
12. Nana's Quilt Shop, 35 South 26th St., this quilt block, Spider was inspired by a quilt made in the 1930s-40s by our maternal grandmother, Kate Estrander. She made it from scraps of clothing so each block is a different color. It was finished by her daughter, Dora Anderson, who gave it to my sister, Bonnie Bergman. We emphasize learning new and basic sewing skills; with Team and Talents teaching children's classes. Our motto is: Get Creative at Nana's.
13. Quilter's Gift Shop, 2506 Robinson started an online shop in 2010, and then opened retail space in their warehouse in 2012. No fabric, no patterns, no notion, just great gifts for quilters. The Fox & Geese block just inspired to show off our building.
